

What is cannabis?

- Cannabis is a drug.
- Cannabis plant contains numerous types of chemical compound called "cannabinoids", e.g. THC, CBD.
- THC (tetrahydrocannabinol) is the major cannabinoid in cannabis plants causing psychoactive ("high"), harmful effects and addiction.
- In addition to cannabis plant, there are synthetic cannabinoids which are substances produced in the laboratory having similar effects to THC or other cannabinoids contained in a cannabis plant.
- Street name: "marijuana", "hash", "grass", or "weed", etc.

Narcotics Division,
Security Bureau

Action Committee
Against Narcotics